

We are fortunate to have safety legislation

Carrying a self-rescuer so as to not breathe poisonous gasses in the event of a mine fire or explosion was made compulsory in Queensland in July 1978.

Current legislation requires refresher training to be conducted on a regular basis. The basic training is meant to simulate a worst case scenario in the unlikely event of a mishap underground. Conducting this training for new entrants to the underground mining industry is extremely challenging.

Lennon Training take safety training for new entrants to the underground very seriously. They have constructed underground galleries at their three training centres in Emerald, Moranbah and Brisbane. Each gallery is fitted with the latest in breathing apparatus, smoke generators to simulate reduced visibility, and breathing apparatus recharging stations identical to those used at the major mines.

It is good to have legislation to protect our health and safety, but that legislation is not worth much if the training to achieve compliance is not taken seriously.

*It is a long and winding road to a safe industry.
And staying safe is not the easiest road to travel.*

An RSHQ approved provider of the Learning From Disasters course

01.

BACKGROUND

Developed by SIMTARS (RTO 45647) on behalf of RSHQ

The primary objective of this course is to learn from disasters, rather than learning about disasters. The course focusses on learning from failure patterns and trends in past disasters.

It seeks to revolutionise the industry's approach to safety, risk, and control by prompting participants to re-evaluate their existing assumptions and beliefs. The course incorporates learnings from the 2019 Brady Review.

02.

STAGE ONE E-LEARNING COMPONENT

Learning from Disasters is delivered in two stages.

Stage One is the eLearning on-line component (please enrol directly with SIMTARS) that is self-paced and accessible through a Learning Management System managed by SIMTARS.

Note - It is mandatory that Stage One eLearning is completed before attending the Stage Two face-to-face workshop.

03.

STAGE TWO WORKSHOP

Stage Two is a practical one-day workshop delivered by an RSHQ-approved provider that will consolidate the knowledge from Stage One and apply additional contextualised learnings to reinforce the Stage One material.

Upon successful completion of the Stage Two workshop, attendees can claim 20 CPD points towards their Practicing Certificate.

04.

LOCATION OF WORKSHOP AND FEES

Lennon Training, 11 Kyle Street, Emerald

$660 SIMTARS Stage One (booked online and payable to SIMTARS)

$785 Lennon Training Stage Two (payable to Lennon Training prior to date)
